

Land Based Gaming

Service beyond certification examination

The NMI gaming laboratory is one of the most respected testing facilities in the world. Since the latter half of the '70s, NMI has worked on the development of standards for AWP machines, casino games and lotteries and today our customers know we can provide them with quick access throughout Europe.

What NMI offers you

In the specific field of Land Based Gaming, NMI can perform all necessary tests in the shortest time. Capabilities include:

- RNG (random number generator)
- Presentation (misleading, content etc)
- Pay out percentage
- Maximum loss per hour
- Time per play
- Maximum win
- EMC

Method

During your development, we can provide you with relevant information about requirements. If your product is ready for verification we can apply various methods to assess whether the product meets the applicable requirements. We can combine the process for multiple countries which saves costs and time.

Communication is essential during this process. Your project leader within NMI will keep you closely informed of the progress during the investigation. The early identification of issues will give you the opportunity to rectify problems or fine tune your product during testing.

On completion of testing you will receive a complete certification report, including all the results of the investigation. If desired, we can also prepare the documentation for application and help you to get the approval.

Quick market access for

- AWP
- Lotteries
- Casino
- FOBT
- Server Based Gaming
- Video Lottery Terminals
- Online gaming

Responsible gaming - G4 cooperation

In modern times it is no longer sufficient to just meet the technical standards in testing. There is a clear demand from the authorities to the effect that "technical" law must also translate into a social responsibility concept. With a long history and knowledge of gambling NMi can analyse which rules may lead to misunderstandings or unwanted developments.

NMi collaborates with G4 (Global Gambling Guidance Group) which aims to minimise the impact of problem gaming by promoting a worldwide accreditation programme for the remote and e-gambling industry and operators. Our collaboration with G4 is a logical consequence of the expertise of both parties. NMi will test as an independent party against G4 standards in consultation with the local gaming authority, or the customer in the case of voluntary certification. By certifying with NMi, we offer the opportunity for responsible organisations to raise their profile.

Groundbreaking in Europe

NMi specialises in European approvals. Every country in Europe is different and we as Europeans understand this. From our local offices, we maintain contacts with the gaming authorities and manufacturers, and because we understand the needs of both sides so well NMi can fulfil the role of mediator between the legislator and the manufacturer like no one else.

Development, especially in the area of technology, is continuous and occasionally the rate of progression results in a gap between the opportunities and the regulations. NMi constantly seeks to bridge this gap and closely follows new techniques and solutions to assist the market in producing new and challenging games.
